

The Alex Bleasby Retired
Gentlemen's Race Series 2010
ALEX BLEASBY HANDICAPS

Raleigh Sailing
Channel Island Yacht Charters

The handicaps applicable at the start of the 2010 Alex Bleasby Retired Gentlemen's series shall be as set out below.

These have been set to attempt the effect that, based on past Alex Bleasby performance, all boats should finish closer together on handicap were no average age adjustments to be applied. The race committee retains the right to adjust the handicaps during the series, but any such adjustment shall not be retrospective.

Competitors are reminded that the Alex Bleasby series has never been a designated white-sails event, and detached foresails (spinnakers, gennakers or cruising chutes) are allowed, though by convention these have not been used.

The race committee recognizes that it cannot properly discourage the use of such sails, but it must consider them to be an excessive display of youthful exuberance and a crew shall be taken as operating a quarter of century below its average age in the use of spinnakers and two decades below its average age in the use of gennakers or cruising chutes.
